EAC Celebrates 125 Years!

Eastern Arizona College formally celebrated its 125th Anniversary September 13-15, 2013. Alumni, community members, businesses, and friends of the College came together for a great variety of events. There was something for everyone.

The EAC Alumni Association hosted a dinner and program Friday evening that featured Eastern's entertaining fine arts programs. The EAC orchestra, The GuyZ, Fourt , and Jazz Band each showcased how music has been a core strength of our 125-year history. Following the performances, special presentations were made by Dr. Maria Hesse from Arizona State University and Dale Frost from Arizona Governor Jan Brewer's Office. Dr. Hesse presented a framed print in honor of the 125th anniversary and the instructional partnership with Arizona State University. Dale Frost read a proclamation commending Eastern for its legacy of building strong leaders and for providing essential workforce development.

The keynote speaker was Senator Gail Griffin. She presented an Arizona highway sign that honors Eastern's 125 years designed like the signs on the state's highways honoring Arizona's 100-year celebration in 2012.

The next day, alumni gathered at the Academic Programs building to receive their registration packets and visit with classmates.

Reunion attendees then joined hundreds of other spectators along the parade route to watch the "Happy Birthday EAC!" parade. With 57 entries and nearly 400 participants, the parade was a great hit. Grand Marshalls included past college presidents Dean Curtis, Gherald L. Hoopes, Jr. and current president Mark Bryce. Senator Gail Griffin and most of the local mayors and county supervisors were also participants in the parade. Jesse Root, Class of 1928, was honored as the weekend's oldest participant. There were antique cars, floats from the college clubs, and other entries from alumni, local schools, and businesses. The Taylor family parade entry highlighted their tradition of teaching at Eastern.

After the parade, there were tours of campus by foot or by bus. Some took bus rides to Eastern's Discovery Park Campus just south of Safford. They were able to see the new campus which provides education services to EAC students as well as local K-12 students.

Keith Crockett welcomes back alumni and guests to the 125th Anniversary Banquet, held in EAC's Gherald L. Hoopes, Jr. Activities Center.

EAC's Engineering Club designed and built this float for the parade on Saturday morning.

That afternoon, over 500 people watched as the amazing Craig Davis, Class of 1990, shared the Davis Circus of Illusion. Audiences were mesmerized by illusions, magic, escape, juggling, and other feats. Many thought this show alone was worth the effort to attend the reunion.

Next came the dedication of the Alumni Visitors Center. This new addition to the Gherald L. Hoopes, Jr. Activities Center provides a warm welcome to alumni and other visitors who want to see and learn about the 125 year history of Eastern Arizona College. A brief video summarizing the College's history was shown. After the dedication and ribbon cutting, attendees toured the new center and enjoyed refreshments.

That evening, alumni were treated to a pregame barbeque prepared by the Gila Hanks Athletic Booster Club. Following the meal, there were pregame presentations including a tribute to those who served in each of the branches of the United States Military and the National Anthem.

A football game at John Mickelson Field and fireworks afterwards finished the evening. Sunday morning many of the reunion attendees who stayed in town had breakfast at Safford's El Charro restaurant.

Those who would like to see the EAC History Video or see other video memories and a multimedia timeline of Eastern's unique history can visit www.eac.edu/125.

We express our thanks to the wonderful 125th Anniversary Committee led by Molly Boyd Steffens, Class of 1964, and each of our corporate sponsors who made such a great event possible.

Juanita Standley, Miss Indian Fort Thomas (Arizona) 2013-2014, participates in the parade.

Phyllis Ramirez Villalpando, '64,

Glendale, Arizona, is a retired elementary school teacher and a volunteer for the Area Agency on Aging, Region One in Maricopa County, Arizona. She is also an active member with Sun Country Iris Society.

Phyllis has been married to Victor Villalpando (commercial construction) for 47 years. They are the proud parents of three children, five grandchildren, and one great-grandchild. A second will be born in January 2014. Friends wanting to reach her should email pvillalpando1@cox.net.

Felix Callicotte, '65, Clifton, Arizona, commuted to Thatcher with some other students to attend college. He later attended the University of Arizona and then spent the majority of his career as a payroll supervisor for Phelps Dodge and the Sunnyside School District in Tucson, Arizona. All three of his children attended Eastern Arizona College also.

Douglas Callicotte, '88, graduated from Eastern then transferred to Arizona State University and received a bachelor's degree in criminal justice. He worked for the Phoenix Police Department, then as a military policeman, and now works as an operations supervisor with Pitney Bowes. Dawn Callicotte Quintero, '92, graduated from EAC and then from Northern Arizona University. She now teaches kindergarten at Pima Elementary School in Pima, Arizona. Victoria Callicotte-Cornelius, '03, graduated from Eastern Arizona College and then continued her education at the University of Arizona. She completed a degree in microbiology and now works for Green Valley Pecan Company as a document and lab technician.

Richard "Rick" Cleland, '67, Prescott, Arizona, shared that he'll be forever grateful to EAC for giving him the opportunity to stay in school and graduate with an associate degree. He was a married student and working full-time at Fort Grant prison. "The College carried me on an athletic scholarship for five semesters. I only played football and baseball for one season. The scholarship was much appreciated. I was only making $250/month." Rick went on to Arizona State University and received a Bachelor of Science in Criminal Justice.

Rick recently retired from the Arizona Department of Corrections after 35 years and has enjoyed living in Prescott for the past 20 years. Rick shared, "I'm glad I can help in some small way to repay the kindness EAC gave me many years ago."

Linda G. Brooks, '67, San Manuel, Arizona, went on to earn an undergraduate and master's degrees from the University of Arizona after graduating from EAC in 1967. She retired from the Mammoth-San Manuel School District, where she was a teacher for 40+ years. During her teaching career she was also involved in many co-curricular activities, such as cheerleader and pom-pom advisor, yearbook, newspaper, student council, and coaching. Linda was also Graduation Coordinator for 22 years. Linda writes, "Teaching was a very fulfilling career for me, as was the chance to be involved in the lives of the youth of my community. I still remember my time at EAC with fondness."

Joseph Martin, '69, Flagstaff, Arizona, was promoted to Special Advisor to the President at Northern Arizona University. He's still employed as a professor in the College of Education, Department of Education Leadership.

David Greve, '75, Houma, Louisiana, after graduating from EAC in '75, accepted a baseball scholarship at University of New Orleans. After finishing there, he accepted a graduate assistant position at Nicholls State University in Thibodaux, LA. He decided he liked southern Louisiana and decided to stay for a "few" years. After over 30 years, he is still there. His wife is from Houma, Louisiana, and he moved there when they got married. They have three daughters and two grandsons.

Beth Shumway Self, '84, Holbrook AZ., enjoyed her time at EAC where she was involved in Choir and Choraleers, was a flag girl with the marching band, and a dancer with the Gila Jazz. She was on the student council as a representative of the LDSSA and was chosen as an attendee for homecoming royalty. She was also involved in several plays, including Peter Pan and The Music Man, in her last school year. After graduation, where she received her AA, she married Scott Self, '84, and they moved to Mesa where Scott worked as a Mesa Police Officer, and they started raising their five children. Because of her love of music and her experiences at Eastern, Beth had the opportunity to teach dance to children for several years, while her family was young. Scott took a medical retirement from the police force in 1999, after an on-duty injury, and the family moved to Beth's hometown of Holbrook, and her parents' ranch, to finish raising their children. With Scott around more to help with the kids, when her youngest started school, Beth also returned to school and received her B.A. in Elementary Education, with a music endorsement from NAU. In 2003, Beth started teaching music for the Holbrook School District at the 3rd – 5th grade level. Because of her love of music that was nurtured during her time at EA she has been able to bring the joy of music into the lives of thousands of her students and their parents. Beth had such a good time at EA that she has encouraged her oldest 3 children; Allan Self '13, Barbara Self '12, and Rex Self (currently enrolled), to attend school there, where they too have enjoyed the atmosphere and activities while getting their education.

Pamela Blake King, '90, Bellevue, Washington, attended college as a third generation EAC student. She enjoyed her time at Eastern including service as the ASEAC Student Body Vice President. Pamela transferred to Brigham Young University after graduating from Eastern. She completed a degree in business with an emphasis in marketing. After graduation, she and her husband, Michael, moved to Tokyo where Pamela worked for an Asian business travel magazine and Michael worked for an asset management firm. After two and a half years in Japan, they returned to Chicago where Michael completed an MBA at the University of Chicago.

The Kings now live in Washington where they are raising four children and enjoying the climate and great business opportunities there. Pamela's husband partnered with some associates to create Taiyo Pacific Partners and have enjoyed the opportunities and challenges of investing in the international markets.

David K. Crockett, '92, South Jordan, Utah, received his degree from the University of Utah School of Medicine with a Ph.D. in biomedical informatics and is currently an assistant professor of pathology at the University of Utah School of Medicine. He holds patents for computer programs that predict the impact of genes on disease, and has published over 50 articles, cited nearly 900 times, on bioinformatics, biomarker discovery, immunology, molecular oncology, genomics and proteomics. David is also senior director of research and predictive analytics for a company called Health Catalyst, which uses computers to predict the effects of genetic variation. He builds on the company's ability to predict patient health outcomes and the next level of prescriptive analytics, which is the science of determining the most effective interventions to maintain health.

Ryan M. Rapier, '95, Thatcher, Arizona, is currently the Public Relations and Marketing Director at Mt. Graham Regional Medical Center in Safford, Arizona. While attending EAC, Ryan met his wife, Shannon Claridge, '93-'95, they were married in January 1996. They then moved so Ryan could attend Arizona State University where he received his bachelor's degree in broadcast management, graduating in December of 1999. Ryan and Shannon have five children: three girls and two boys. Ryan recently had his first book published titled, The Reluctant Blogger, and plans to write another one soon.

Randy C. Quinn, '99, Gilbert, Arizona, attended EAC in January 1995, with a pursuit in Nursing. He was able to get his pre-requisites done at EAC to start him on the path of a great career. Randy received his AAS from Northland Pioneer College in 2001. Randy received his BSN from Northern Arizona University in 2005. He graduated from Texas Christian University with his Master's in Nursing and is currently practicing as a nurse anesthetist at Maricopa Medical Center in Phoenix. He is the President of the Arizona State Board of Nursing as well as a member of the Arizona Nurse Anesthesia board.

While at EAC he started working at Mt. Graham Regional Medical Center where he met his wife, Donelle Wheeler, '99, who got her degree at EAC as a nurse in 1999. Donelle later received her bachelor's degree in nursing from NAU in 2005. Donelle currently works at Banner Health as a certified emergency nurse. They were married in April 1998 and have two boys and two girls.

Charles St. George, '98, Scottsdale, Arizona, recently received his Ph.D. in Spanish (cultural studies) and a second M.A. in French (linguistics) from Arizona State University. His dissertation was on Hispanic horror films, and he has published in scholarly books and journals on the role of fears and phobias in regulating economies, societies, and cultures. This summer, he is working for a seminar on urban Brazilian literature sponsored by the National Endowment for the Humanities in São Paulo, Brazil. This fall he will begin a tenure-track faculty position in the Modern Languages Department at Denison University, a top liberal arts college in Granville, Ohio.
